them about the standard, but often not, and if not we can let go of our frustration. We can have group discussions about the standards and agree to them, but also know that standards will not be completely lived up to, ever. And that's OK. There are lots of other things letting go isn't as well, but you can see

Letting go is an action of the mind – just like letting go of a tissue into a trash can is an action of the hand. It is completely natural. For example, in terms of the body, you let go every time you exhale or use the bathroom. Fundamentally, letting go is the opposite of the clinging that leads to suffering.

The length of our lives are in His hands. All we can do is let our loved ones go and honour God with our lives. Once that person is gone, they are from that time forward, part of our past and we must let the past go and press on to what lies ahead. Letting go of possessions: We have to let –things–™ go.
