When local residents shop at small businesses within their communities, their tax dollars stay within the local economy, helping to improve their community as a result. Likewise, local small businesses tend to buy locally as well, pumping more of their profits back into the community than their chain store counterparts, helping with economic ...

A localized business is one that chooses to market its products or services through a physical location (or locations) situated in a reasonable proximity to its customers. Confusion may arise in thinking of "local" businesses (nearby businesses) as localized businesses. A "local" business may or may not be a localized business.
