This clever quilt "Odd Socks" was made by Juliet (originally from Scotland, living in New Zealand). Her blog is the Tartan Kiwi. You can see her patterns here. My favorite sock is the blue one in the upper right corner. I like those polka dots. Nice low volume background too.

Kelly, yes, I always use cotton batting. I didn't quilt my borders yet in these photos, but I would recommend quilting it. Batting usually has a recommended quilting distance, usually 2-4" as a maximum distance--it says on the package, so you don't want to leave more than that distance between your quilting (I mean, it doesn't have to be exact, but as a general rule).

I have loved this Sonata Showcase because each designer has given me a gift. To see my fabric in the hands of such amazing makers is the most rewarding part of designing fabric and I have been overwhelmed with the sewing skills, the photography, the time and effort each designer has put in to this.
