A statistical model is a mathematical model that embodies a set of statistical assumptions concerning the generation of some sample data and similar data from a larger population. A statistical model represents, often in considerably idealized form, the data-generating process. The assumptions embodied by a statistical model describe a set of probability distributions, some of which are assumed ...

The Granger causality test is a statistical hypothesis test for determining whether one time series is useful in forecasting another, first proposed in 1969. Ordinarily, regressions reflect "mere" correlations, but Clive Granger argued that causality in economics could be tested for by measuring the ability to predict the future values of a time series using prior values of another time series.

Issues What is forecast verification? If we take the term forecast to mean a prediction of the future state (of the weather, stock market prices, or whatever), then forecast verification is the process of assessing the quality of a forecast.. The forecast is compared, or verified, against a corresponding observation of what actually occurred, or some good estimate of the true outcome.
